The Many Faces of Collaboration Interoperability

Who am I?
People

Familiarization and training
The improvement must outweigh the pain of transition.
The tools aren’t in most of the schoolhouses.

When faced with problems,

...people will revert to what they know.
Training in these processes will be instrumental in overcoming the familiarization challenges.
In the next Democratic debate how many times will Obama mention change?

The chain of information is not the chain of command.

The customer is not the commander; it's everyone who uses [information].
